

 Online
reprographics

has a wealth of experience and industry knowledge that is almost unrivalled.

With offices at Islington's Business Design Centre, and The Maltings Development on Tower Bridge Road, Online Repro is fully equipped and resourced to handle all of the reprographic requirements of our clients.

"A modern approach to a traditional service" is how we look at the print service we provide.

The service we provide doesn't change, only the processes we use, and the way in which those are delivered.

At all times we endeavour to provide a courteous professional service that delivers what our clients need.

Producing colour or black & white; large format or small format; on time and at a fair price is nothing special, but it is so very important to get it right first time.

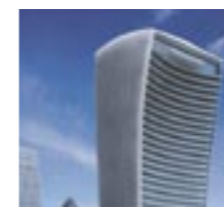

We have found that price is rarely the deciding factor in choosing a print provider; clients expect and demand, high quality print output, a reliable and dependable level of service, an understanding of technology and a personal touch.

"You're only as good as the team around you".

Value comes from providing a service that borders on consultancy; being fully aware of a clients needs through a proactive relationship, and having the knowledge and industry experience to recommend different solutions that will ensure a quality print every time.

We believe 'that', is the very essence of the service we deliver at Online Repro, and we hope that this brochure will give you a feel for the approach we take to satisfying our client's reprographic needs.

...only a click away

Online Secure allows for online print ordering and submission of files

Online Repro is just that.....
Online, and only a click away

As our name suggests; we are a company that fully embraces the use of the latest technology and whilst many organizations claim to offer an "online" service, most struggle with their website functionality.

Investment into dedicated communications and file transmission software, ensure that we are continually online, and accessible from any location or any platform.

Our personalized file transmission software Online Secure, allows any client to access our server from any pc or mac, go online and send files from anywhere.

You can access us via the web or from our software downloaded to your desktop.

Just drag and drop your files, open the order book and tell us what you want.

Press send and as soon as it arrives with us, you get an instant response confirming it has reached us and is now ready for processing.

No more waiting for collection, or saving to disk, just click and send. On the fly compression ensures fast transfer speeds and the optimal bandwidth at online repro guarantees the fastest of connections.

Using Online Secure saves time and the need for a traditional collection service, we pass on this saving by reducing our charge for Online orders by 20% from our standard price guide.

from any where

"Working with Online has been a great help to us, thanks not only to technology, but more importantly attitude. Communication's about far more than technology, it's about working together to get the job done"....

Jon Gibson, Perkins + Will, Chicago.

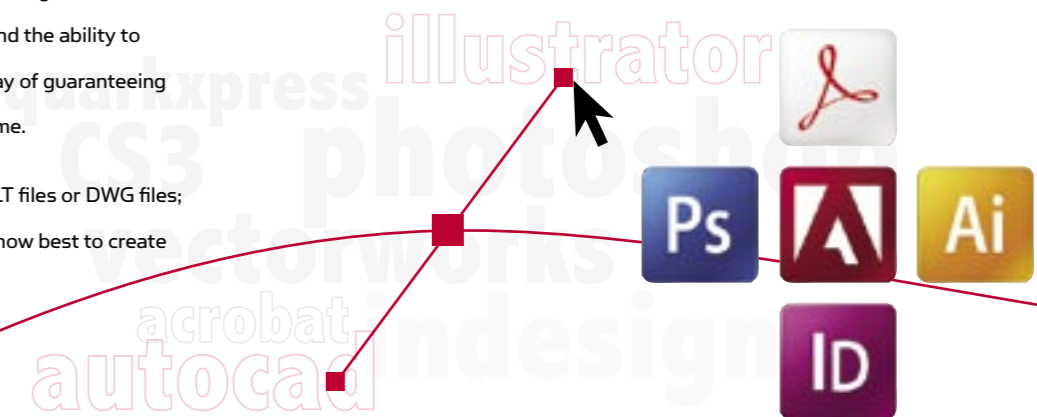

From VectorWorks to InDesign, AutoCAD to QuarkXpress, Online Repro ensures that we keep apace with the changing software packages that our clients are likely to use.

We believe that to truly get the best print results we need to understand how a document has been created and be able to add the relevant print expertise as and when necessary.

Whilst PDF is a common standard allowing for ease in reproduction, having the source file and the ability to adapt an image if needed, is a sure way of guaranteeing the best possible results time after time.

RGB or CMYK, Low Res or Hi Res, PLT files or DWG files; we have the experience to advise on how best to create your documents for processing.
